Parakeet Café

PAYROLL · THE NEXT 52 WEEKS

Week Types and Hourly Templates

Each café's next 52 weeks grouped into a few types of week, and for each type the average week by day and hour, in sales and checks: the template to build the schedule on.

Ten cafés of the run-rate budget · 52 weeks, Oct 26, 2026 to Oct 24, 2027
Sales: today's run-rate by day · hours and checks: Toast POS, Oct 2024 – Oct 14, 2026, checked on Oct 15–19, 2026
Prepared October 21, 2026 · workbook: Parakeet_Week_Templates_Next_52_Weeks.xlsx

Two to four types of week per café, each with its own week by day and hour

01 Two to four types per café. A new type only where its weeks sell 10% more than the type below, in runs of 4 weeks or more. Four: La Jolla Cove. Three: Coronado, La Jolla Juicery and Little Italy Café. Two (the minimum): Beverly Hills, Brentwood, Carlsbad, Del Mar Café, La Jolla Café and Newport Beach.

02 The busiest weeks are summer at the beach. Coronado's High weeks (Jun 28 – Aug 15, 2027) sell $104.3K a week, +61% on its Low weeks. Los Angeles goes the other way: Brentwood and Beverly Hills sell least in summer.

03 21 holiday weeks get their own template (10% more or less than their type), starting with Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's: busier at the beach, quieter at Brentwood. 4 cafés have none; their holidays are noted on the type's page.

04 Every week keeps its own numbers. A week sells on average 2–4% more or less than its template. Each type's page lists its weeks with that gap; the Weeks sheet has every week's own sales by day.

05 At today's level, and on track. Today's run-rate with no growth: the templates add up to it ($29.45M for the ten cafés). The five days after the data (Oct 15–19) came in −0.8% against it.

HOW TO USE IT

1. Find the week in the calendar (pages 4–5, or the Calendar sheet): it gives the week's type, or its holiday week.
2. Check the week's own sales in the Weeks sheet: if a day runs a few percent above or below the template, scale that day.
3. Open the café's page for that type: sales and checks for every hour, Monday to Sunday.
4. Staff each hour to its sales and checks with your own productivity standard.
5. On a holiday listed on the type's page, adjust that day: the page says how much more or less it sells.

One page per café shows its year week by week and its types; then one page per type and one per holiday week. The workbook has every template, with formulas for the totals.

Weeks from the run-rate, hours from Toast

THE TYPES OF WEEK

Each café's next 52 weeks at today's run-rate (Monday to Sunday, from Oct 26, 2026) are split into types in runs of at least 4 weeks, the first and last included, so a type always runs from one week to another. The split keeps each week as close as it can to its type's level, and every change of type has to be worth about four weeks 5% off.

A café gets as many types as it can, up to four, while each type sells at least 10% more than the one below it; never fewer than two. Types are named by level: Low and High; Low, Normal and High; or Low, Normal, High and Super high.

HOLIDAY WEEKS

Weeks with a holiday (and spring break) do not move the types. Where one sells 10% more or less than its type's average week, it gets a template of its own; otherwise its holidays are listed on the type's page with what they sell.

LA JOLLA COVE

The run-rate carries the budget's remodeled café ($125K a month) from its October 1, 2027 reopening: its types are found on the weeks before, and the three weeks after are one more type, Remodeled. Its hours follow today's café until the remodeled one has its own.

THE TEMPLATE OF A TYPE

The average of the type's weeks, day by day (holiday weeks with their own template left out), so the templates on the calendar add up to the run-rate. Each day is split into hours along the café's pattern for that day of the week: the hour each check was opened in Toast, Oct 2024 to Oct 14, 2026, recent days weighing more. Holidays follow their own pattern from earlier years. Checks are each hour's sales over the café's average check for that hour and day, last 12 months.

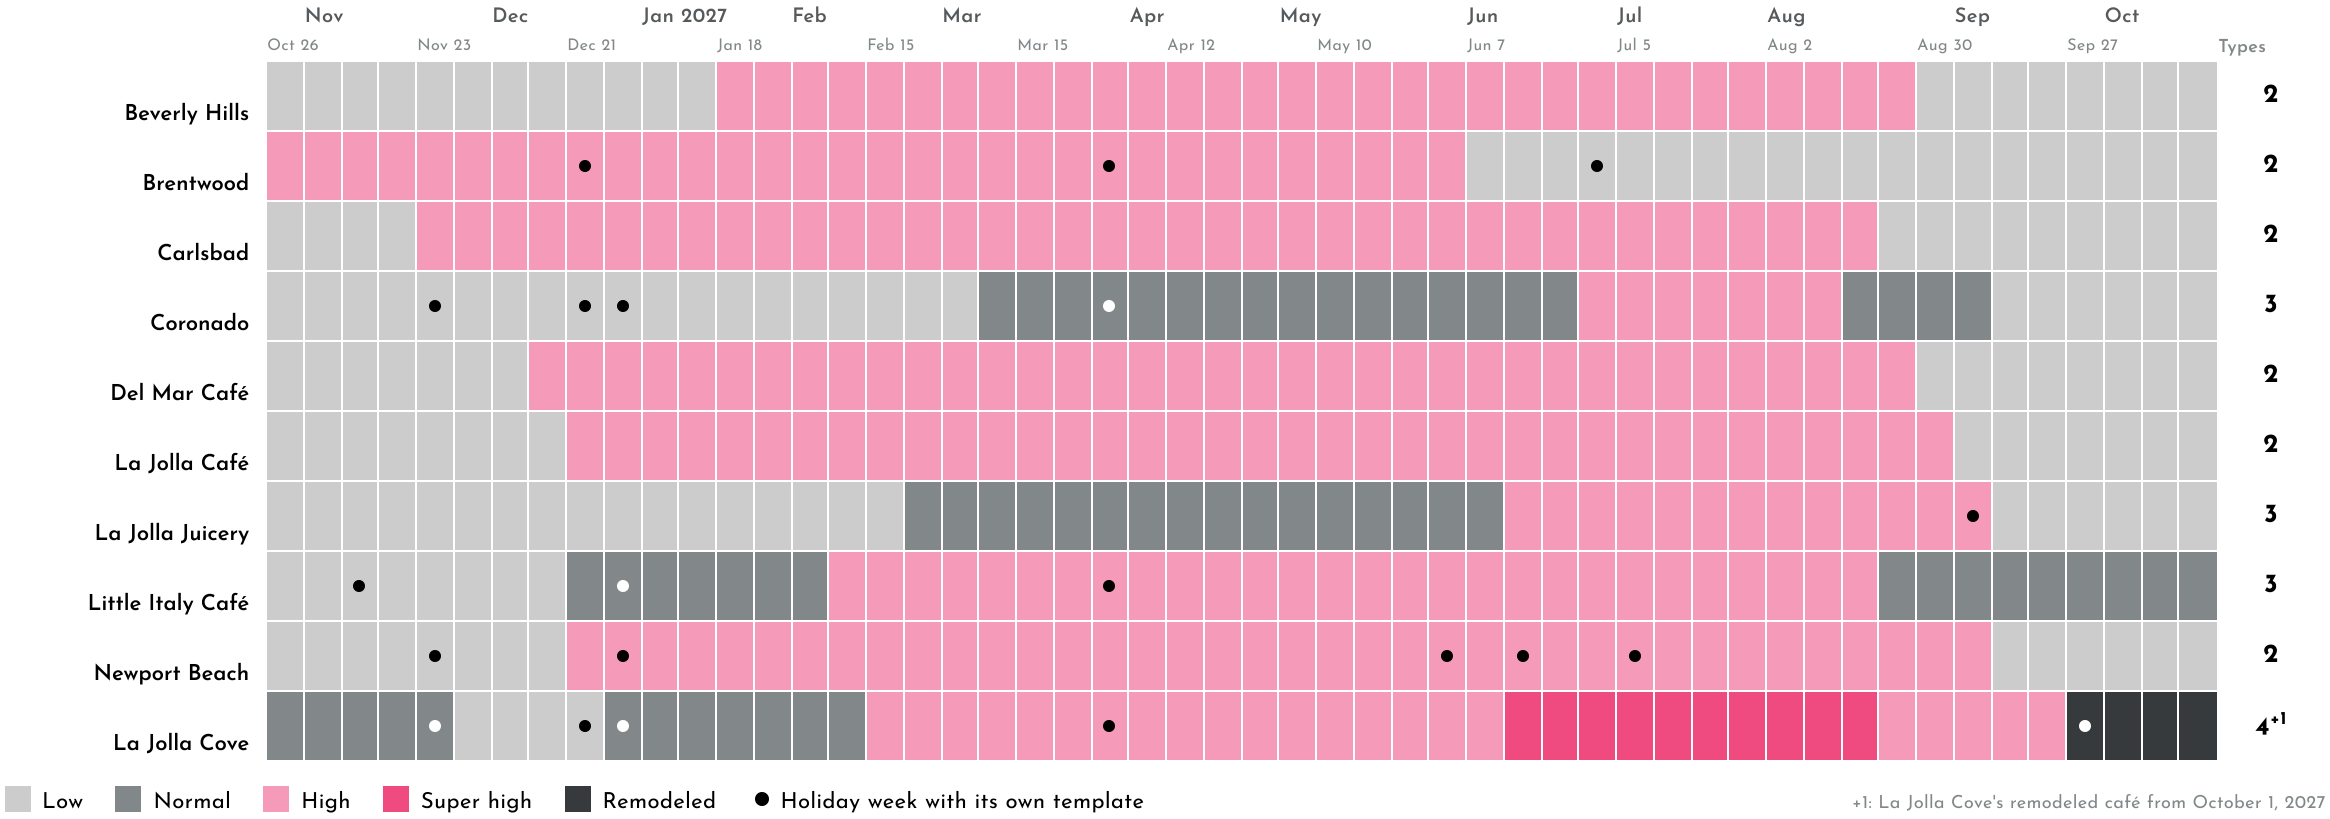

TESTED ON THE LAST YEAR

HOURLY ERROR, SPLITTING THE ACTUAL DAY	ERROR
One pattern per day of the week (used)	21.3%
One pattern per type of week and day	21.6%
Holidays: their own pattern (used) / the day's	21.0% / 26.0%
Recent days weigh more (half-life 180 days) / all equal	20.7% / 20.9%
Checks from the average check, last 12 months	15.6%
Live, Oct 15–19 (after the data): sales against the run-rate, ten cafés	–0.8%
Hourly error, the run-rate day on the pattern / checks against expected	19.9% / +0.1%

Error: each actual day split into hours and compared hour by hour (|actual − split| ÷ actual), learned on the year to Oct 14, 2025 and scored on the year after (recency and checks: learned to Apr 14, 2026, scored on the six months after). Most of it is the noise of a single hour on a single day. Checks run about 3% high when prices rise. Live by café: −4.5% (Beverly Hills) to +15.0% (La Jolla Juicery).

Every week of the next 52 and its type, café by café

Week 1 starts Monday Oct 26, 2026; week 52 ends Sunday Oct 24, 2027. A dot marks a holiday week with a template of its own.

BEVERLY HILLS LOW HIGH

Beverly Hills: two types of week

Low Oct 26, 2026 – Jan 17, 2027 and Aug 30 – Oct 24, 2027 ($53.1K a week); High Jan 18 – Aug 29, 2027 ($57.0K a week). Two types is the minimum: here they are 7.2% apart, under the 10% rule, so the weeks change little through the year. A week sells on average 1.8% more or less than its template (at most 7%).

DEL MAR CAFÉ LOW HIGH

Del Mar Café: two types of week

Low Oct 26 – Dec 13, 2026 and Aug 30 – Oct 24, 2027 ($87.1K a week); High Dec 14, 2026 – Aug 29, 2027 ($94.6K a week). Two types is the minimum: here they are 8.6% apart, under the 10% rule, so the weeks change little through the year. A week sells on average 2.0% more or less than its template (at most 6%).

LA JOLLA CAFÉ LOW HIGH

La Jolla Café: two types of week

Low Oct 26 – Dec 20, 2026 and Sep 6 – Oct 24, 2027 ($53.7K a week); High Dec 21, 2026 – Sep 5, 2027 ($59.0K a week). Two types is the minimum: here they are 9.8% apart, under the 10% rule, so the weeks change little through the year. A week sells on average 2.5% more or less than its template (at most 6%).
